Motivate and recognize

- Privately recognize them for their specialized knowledge or a job well done.
- Allow them to have independence and autonomy within their defined areas of responsibility.
- Assign a variety of work that allows them to multitask.

Provide direction and feedback

- Provide clear expectations and definition of responsibilities.
- Give assurance of support, as they may be sensitive to criticism.
- Get to the point of the conversation, but don't skip the details.

Delegate

- Don't delegate work where there are a lot of people involved and the lines of responsibility are unclear.
- Do delegate work that is structured but varied – think different tasks to work on, but guidelines to follow.

Coach

Coaching is not the same as managing, but we know that managers often play a coaching role. Keep in mind that coaching conversations are about asking questions and letting the coachee come up with ideas, actions and next steps.

- Help them to become more comfortable with risk by giving them small opportunities to take chances and get comfortable with the outcomes.
- Play to their strengths by having them identify the strategies they use to execute effectively and share those with the team.
- Help them define the rules, standards and responsibilities that they should follow when ambiguity is high.
