Motivate and recognize

- Provide recognition of persistence, success or tangible results.
- Allow them to participate in setting their own goals.
- Let them work independently in an unstructured environment.

Provide direction and feedback

- Provide proof and examples when giving feedback.
- Be prepared that they may push back or disregard direction if they feel they have a better, proven method.
- Provide the big-picture conceptual view rather than the nitty gritty.

Delegate

- Don't delegate details or work that has an urgent time pressure or strict guidelines to follow.
- Do delegate work where the focus is more on the results than the details.

Coach

Coaching is not the same as managing, but we know that managers often play a coaching role. Keep in mind that coaching conversations are about asking questions and letting the coachee come up with ideas, actions and next steps.

- Ask them to explain the importance of the rules you need them to follow on projects, as they tend to have limited concern about rules in general.
- Help them find the right balance between being assertive and being friendly; those two styles can be in opposition, so support can help.
- Let them guide some of their development with strong prompts about your expectations along the way.
